

DRAFTED MEN TO GIVE DRILL

Military Service Legion Arranges Exhibition at National Guard Armory.

A general invitation to the public and especially to those young men who will go to Camp Meade has been issued by the Military Service Legion, of the District of Columbia, to witness a drill to be held Tuesday evening, September 18, at 8 p. m., at the National Guard Armory, 42 L street northwest, to show just what the young men of the District who are to go to Camp Meade soon have accomplished in the three weeks during which they have been receiving instructions by the officers of the Legion.

About 100 of these young men have been put through the preliminary instructions in military tactics two evenings a week. Officers of the Legion have expressed pride over the showing the men have made in the short space of time that they have been under instruction.

Col. R. D. Simms, president of the Legion, said last evening that he would ask the exemption boards to extend an invitation to all the men who have been called to witness the drill.

The men who will form part of the new national army will be commanded by the following officers of the Military Service Legion, at the drill Tuesday evening:

Col. R. D. Simms, Maj. C. Eugene Edwards, Maj. Charles A. Meyer, Capt. Harry A. Walsh, Capt. Edward H. Grove, Capt. T. Bryan Huyek, Capt. Frank W. Holt, Lieut. George A. Von Dauchenhausen, Sergt. J. F. Cromwell, and Lieut. H. S. Shepard. Officers of the Legion are of the opinion that if the men can see what these now drilling have accomplished in a few weeks, that more will join. According to Col. Simms, it would be a good thing for the District of Columbia, and the young men who will go to Camp Meade, if on arrival there and asked how many men have had military training, every young man who makes up the District quota would be able to step forward and say I have.

These drills are conducted every Tuesday and Thursday evening.

WILSON'S WRITINGS TO GO IN SCHOOLS

President's State Papers to Form Part of Curriculum.

"President Wilson's writings are everywhere recognized as models of English compositions," said Ernest L. Thurston, superintendent of public schools, in referring to his plans to have the President's state papers studied in the public schools. Just what part of the President's writings will be taught has not been decided. It is certain, however, that some of his war papers will be included in the course, and among these will undoubtedly be his address to Congress asking for a declaration of a state of war between the United States and Germany, and his reply to the peace note of the Pope. Mr. Thurston will discuss this plan in his address before the teachers of the public schools Monday.

Superintendent Thurston and the other officials of the public schools have been working hard during the last few days preparing for the opening of the schools Monday. The work of enrollment of out-of-town pupils has been going on steadily, and the indications are that the total enrollment of the city schools will exceed that of last year by about 5,000. In other words, the public schools expect to teach about 75,000 pupils this year.

No changes in the classes in German are contemplated. The German instructors of last year are here to take charge of the classes as usual, and the language of the Germans will be taught as before the war.

TO KEEP YOUNGSTERS FROM CITY'S STREETS

Teachers Plan "Safety First" Program for Kindergarten Pupils.

Washington's youngsters, who are to enter the District public school kindergartens tomorrow, will be prohibited from playing in the street, the ideal "kiddies" play grounds. This was announced at a meeting of the kindergarten teachers yesterday at the Thompson school, who formulated plans for having embryo teachers take every precaution in the way of "safety first" for their young pupils.

The teachers, who numbered about a hundred, were very enthusiastic over the idea and promised to keep an eye on the National Capital's children. Most of them were sunburnt and brown from the long summer's vacation, but all expressed their most hearty desire to return to their vacant school rooms.

Miss Catherine R. Watkins, director of the kindergartens, greeted the young teachers and in an address told them that because of a threatened shortage of kindergarten teachers, "many of them," she said, "going into the matrimonial field," will constitute an early graduation of the kindergarten teachers, which probably will be held about the middle of November.

DAILY RECRUITING REPORT SUSPENDED

The War Department yesterday suspended publication of the daily report on recruiting for the army.

This step was taken, not to hide the increase in our forces, but as a simple measure of economy in effort and money.

For more than two weeks the daily contingent turned in throughout the country has been steadily decreasing as the draft became actual.

To send in daily reports from every State, no matter how small the number of recruits, was regarded as a waste of money, and a drain on the time of officials who had to compile the reports, hence yesterday the bulletin did not appear. Its publication may be resumed at any time, however.

East Washington Association.
The regular monthly meeting of the East Washington Citizens' Association will be held tomorrow at 8 p. m.
This is the first meeting of the association since May, 1917, the regular meetings in the summer months of June, July and August having been discontinued. At the meeting in May last, the association voted to remit the dues of all members in arrears upon the payment of $1.00, the dues for this year.

Fall Suit Styles Are Distinctive--- Quite Different from Last Year's

—Skirts have grown a little longer, and somewhat narrower, especially at the hem. Coats, too, show an added inch or more. Long line models, high waist styles, pleated coats, and some with pleated skirts; and many exquisite effects in plain tailored models are new arrivals.

—As to materials, there has scarcely been a season when such a wealth of beautiful weaves have been offered in ready-to-wear suits as at this time. There are new Twills, Velours, Burella Cloths, silver-tone, etc.

—Fur trimmings enhance many of the suits, and the new "Kerama" or imitation mole is a beautiful trimming innovation of this season.

—There are plenty of new models that will be especially becoming to the stout woman, and we have provided "stout" and off or "half sizes," which will be a boon to the woman who considers herself hard to fit.

—Popular new colors are beet-root, brown, navy, green, reindeer, and rose taupe; also plenty of black.

Priced---
$29.75, $35.00,
and $39.75

New Fall Dresses Acclaim the Popularity of the Surplice Waist and Tuxedo Collar

—You will find this effect running through a great many of the smart styles, —Aeroplane skirts, narrower at the bottom, giving a "peg-top" effect, have made their courtly courtesy on the Fall fashion stage. Some are in long-waist styles. A detailed description of a few will perhaps give a better idea what to find at these prices.

$25, $29.75 and $35

—AMONG THOSE AT $25 are serges in navy blue, with draped wing skirt, cluster pleating, beaded and embroidered belt, finished with white satin collar. Another is of tan jersey, finished with white satin Tuxedo collar, belt of self-material, slip-through style in front, crossed and buttoned in the back.

—AT $29.75 is a beautiful satin dress, surplice bodice, with white satin Tuxedo roll collar, aeroplane skirt; skirt and sleeves trimmed with braid. Another is of Georgette crepe, black over flesh colored lining, handsomely embroidered on front; sleeves and belt satin trimmed; the flesh colored crepe de chine lining forms the vest in front.

—AT $35.00 is shown a beautiful satin dress, surplice front, with Tuxedo collar, elaborately stitched in gold and silk; skirt is aeroplane style and in the new narrow bottom effect. A very stunning model most attractively combines Georgette crepe with satin striped taffeta, a long-waist blouse of Georgette, elaborately beaded, over a wide lining of silk ribbon is attached by a wide belt of taffeta to the skirt of taffeta; the belt is in slip-through effect back and front; wing sleeves of Georgette are finished with deep taffeta cuffs.

—NOTE: All the new colors are shown in these dresses and there are all sizes to select from.
